The Society's Nineteenth Annual Report
(2015)

Compiled by
Cynthia B. Sajnovsky, Professor Emerita of Music, Secretary, SEPRS

TO: Dr. Anita Enriquez, Senior Vice President

FROM: Robert M. Sajnovsky, Chair, Society of Emeritus Professors and Retired Scholars

SUBJECT: The Society's Nineteenth Annual Report (2015)

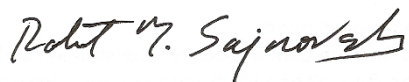

Members of the Society of Emeritus Professors and Retired Scholars (SEPRS) have engaged in numerous academic, research, and service activities this past year. These professional, community, and volunteer endeavors demonstrate how emeritus faculty continue to help the University achieve its mission for our island, the region, and elsewhere throughout the world.

An item of note, and only incidentally mentioned in some members' listings under the heading, "Philanthropy", is a scholarship fund approved by and contributed to by the SEPRS membership through the UOG Endowment Foundation, which will begin distributing an annual amount of $1000.00 to deserving UOG students in AY 2017. The Year End Financial Report details the amount currently available for the SEPRS Scholarship.

In addition to the SEPRS scholarship, some of our members have established their own, individual scholarship funds with the UOG Endowment Foundation, and are now, or soon will be aiding deserving UOG students by their monetary contributions.

Attached is our annual report listing the work of the Society's members. Members submissions appear in alphabetical order, and the Financial Report for 2015 is in an appendix to the report.

Thank you for your continued support and attention.

Robert M. Sajnovsky, Chair
Society of Emeritus Professors and Retired Scholars

B.Teaching:

Although pro bono (unpaid), I was an official lecturer and team-taught with Mark Hixon two courses in 2015:

Biology 691, Marine Ecological Resilience, Department of Biology, University of Hawaii at Manoa, Spring semester

Biology 715, Marine Conservation Biology, Department of Biology, University of Hawaii at Manoa, Fall semester

C.I gave guest lectures at the University of Hawaii, at Guam, and Key West, Florida:

2015 January 16 – lectured to Biology 410 Corals and coral reefs on “Geology of coral reefs” for Cindy Hunter

2015 January 21 – lectured to Biology 410 Corals and coral reefs on “Paleontology, earlier reefs, basis of modern reefs” for Cindy Hunter

2015 January 30 - gave a seminar talk to Ecology, Evolution, and Conservation Biology (EECB) group on “Tradeoffs between fecundity, survival, and fast growth in the evolutionary history of corals”

2015 February 10 – lectured to Biology 200 Marine Biology on “Coral reefs” for Julie
Brock

2015 March 2 - gave a talk to Hawaii Institute of Marine Biology on “Biases from extraordinarily good conditions for scleractinian reefs in the Holocene”

2015 April 15 – gave a one-hour talk at the UOG Island Sustainability Conference on “Evolutionary responses of corals to climate and ocean chemical changes”

2015 April 16 - gave a one-hour talk at the UOG Island Sustainability Conference on “Biology trumps management: natural history guidance for effective use of resources”

2015 September 1 – lectured to Biology 475 Invertebrate Zoology on “Tropical and temperate corals” for Julie Brock

2015 September 17 – lectured to Marine Biology 715 Marine Conservation Biology on “Can marine reserves function as networks linked by larval dispersal?”

2015 October 3 – keynote address to the American Academy of Underwater Sciences at the annual meeting, Key West, Florida on “Working with, not against, coral-reef fisheries”

2015 November 12 – lectured to Marine Biology 715 Marine Conservation Biology on “Can control of local damages by human activities make corals resilient enough to survive climate change?”

RESEARCH, PROFESSIONAL SCHOLARSHIP, AND CREATIVE ENDEAVORS

I edited the book Birkeland, C. (ed) 2015 Coral Reefs in the Anthropocene. (given above)

SERVICE

A. Professional service:

I served the journal Marine Ecology Progress Series as a Contributing Editor. In 2015 I managed the peer-review process for 16 manuscripts. I also reviewed a manuscript for BioScience, Conservation Biology, Journal of Experimental Marine Biology and Ecology, Marine and Freshwater Research (CSIRO), and Royal Society Open Science.

B. Service to the University:

Filomena M. Cantoria, Ph.D.

Professor Emerita of Accounting

RESEARCH, PROFESSIONAL SCHOLARSHIP AND CREATIVE ENDEAVORS:

No paper has been written on my current research on Managerial Accounting which I am doing in collaboration with my colleagues at the University of the Philippines.

I went to San Diego for training on new utilities advancement especially on renewable sources of energy in February 2015.

SERVICE:

In the Philippines, I launched a scholarship for Business and Accounting at the University of the Philippines and awarded to one recipient in Fall semester This is to honor my parents, Manuel and Carmen Magno.

My scholarship at the UOG in the name of my husband Alfredo CANTORIA will be launched in July 2016 for Accounting student and/or Book scholarship in the MBA Program. I need to add funds to meet needs of the scholarship.

I continue my service to Guam as a Commissioner in the Public Utilities Commission with term up to 2019.

Leroy Heitz, Ph.D.
Professor Emeritus of Engineering

1. ACADEMIC CONTRIBUTIONS:

A. Publications

Heitz, L.F. and sh. Khosrowpanah, "Prediction of Flow Duration Curves at Ungaged Sites on Guam". University of Guam, Water and Environmental Research Institute of the Western Pacific (WERI), Technical Report No 154, January 2015, 34 pages.

B. Professional Presentations:

Delivered a paper at the Second Conference on Water Resource Sustainability Issues on Tropical Island held in December 2015. The title of the presentation was "Using a Geographic Information system to predict flow duration curves at ungaged steam sites in Guam".

C. Teaching: (Course title, institution, semester of course offering)

Developed a short course that will be presented to Engineers at the Commonwealth Utilities Corporation (CUC) in Saipan, CNMI. The title of the course is "WATER SYSTEM HYDRAULICS AND MODELING WATER SYSTEMS USING THE EPANET HYDRAULIC MODEL". This course will be presented in Saipan in January 2016. Preparation and delivery of this course was funded by WERI, University of Guam through the United States Geological Survey Water Institute Program.

2. RESEARCH, PROFESSIONAL SCHOLARSHIP AND CREATIVE ENDEAVORS:

- A. Completed a research project which was funded by WERI, University of Guam through the United States Geological Survey Water Institute Program. The title of the project was "Prediction of Flow Duration Curves at Ungaged Sites on Guam". The results of the project was published in a WERI technical report (listed above) and presented at a professional meeting (listed above).
- B. Submitted a proposal for possible funding by WERI, University of Guam through the United States Geological Survey Water Institute Program. The title of this proposal is "Enhancing Predictions of Average Flow and Flow Duration Curves at Ungaged Stream Sites in Guam Using the USGS South Guam Streamflow Model". If funded this project will involve myself, researchers at WERI, and scientists at the U.S. Geological Survey Pacific Water Science Center.
- C. Completed the development of two computer application for using the Hazen Williams Formula for analyzing water flow in pipes. One is designed for use in the traditional Windows form environment. The second is designed around the new Windows Universal Application format. The second program can be used on Windows phones and tablets using the Windows 10 operating system. These programs will be used in the CUC training course referenced above.

Daniel L. Robertson, Ph.D.

Professor Emeritus of English and Applied Linguistics

RESEARCH, PROFESSIONAL SCHOLARSHIP AND CREATIVE ENDEAVORS

During 2015, I have continued to pursue the study of Chinese in my retirement. To that end, I have made two trips to Sias International University, with which UOG has a memorandum of agreement. I travelled to Henan Zhengzhou April 7-25 and again August 21-31. During these trips, I studied an average of 3 hours per day with a highly trained teacher of Chinese as a Second Language in the College of Chinese Language and Culture at Sias. I was happy to continue to develop the relationships I have formed at Sias, in the hope that UOG may someday realize its potential for mutual cooperation. In the past year, my focus has moved from learning Chinese to the study of Chinese linguistics. I have joined with the principal of the Chinese School of Guam in studying principles of Chinese linguistics through the use of online resources. As these resources are delivered in Chinese, they are also useful to me in learning Chinese language, especially in extending professional vocabulary. I feel that these endeavors are good for me personally and that some may eventually result in benefit for the University.

SERVICE

I provide translation and interpretation services for the Chinese School of Guam. I also provide tutoring and consultation services for Chinese students at ELI and UOG.

PHILANTHROPY:

I have established an annual award in Applied Linguistics through the UOG Endowment Foundation; the principal will begin to produce awards in two years.

This is a significantly restructured chapter based on a related manuscript listed in 2014. It is in preparation for a book developed by ASAO members, entitled, Circulation of Children in a Global Context. Publication is expected in 2016.

Spencer, M. (2015). Book review for A Jungle Named Academia, book authored by Dr. Yukiko Inoue-Smith. The review was placed on the cover of the book.

B. Teaching

- 1) Member, M.A. thesis committee of Lily Quenene, Micronesian Studies Program, University of Guam.

2. RESEARCH AND PROFESSIONAL SCHOLARSHIP

- 1) Member, Editorial Board, Pacific Asia Inquiry: Multidisciplinary Perspectives, Co-Editor of book reviews and resource to Editor, College of Liberal Arts & Social Sciences. PAI is a peer reviewed on-line journal.
- 2) Made a major public research presentation for MARC on November 29, 2015, CLASS Lecture Hall, based on the book, Children of Chuuk Lagoon. This was followed by a panel discussion of the book by three professional personalities who are also regional migrants, and concluded with question and answer interactions between myself, the audience, and the panel.
- 3) Provided assistance to MARC in the promotion and dissemination of research content from the book on Romonum, Chuuk FSM that I wrote and MARC published. Presentation and media representation included the following and were provided to the Media Mentions section of the website for the international professional organization: Society of Research on Child Development:

Mary Spencer's book, Children of Chuuk Lagoon: A 21st Century Analysis of Life and Learning on Romonum Island, was the focus of Guam's K57 radio interview by Patty Arroyo, a televised interview by Clynt Ridgell of the Pacific News Center (<http://www.pacificnewscenter.com/local/6708>) and an article by Jerick Sablan of the Pacific Daily News (<http://www.guampdn.com/story/news/2015/11/18/book-highlights-research-children-chuuk/75971994/>). Relevance of the research to impacts of the US Compacts of Free Association with the Federated States of Micronesia, Palau, and the Marshall Islands was addressed in a public presentation by Spencer and a panel of three regional migrants on November 29, 2015 at the University of Guam, including former Governor of Chuuk State, Ansito Walter; Debbie Retuyan, a legislative policy analyst; and Rosetrina Elidok, a Guam Women's Chamber of Commerce scholarship recipient at the University (<http://www.guampdn.com/search/Copact%20benefits%20regional%20migrants/>). The book was published by Micronesian Area Research Center (MARC) at the University of Guam (uogpress@gmail.com).

- 4) Prepared a research presentation and application workshop for the UOG Language Arts Conference in November 2015. The focus was to be on the results of the research documented in the book, Children of Chuuk Lagoon, with hands-on instructional application activities combining the Romonum findings with bilingual instructional materials developed by IREI. Unfortunately, the conference was cancelled the day before it was scheduled to begin due to the predicted typhoon.

- 5) Collaborated with a team of UOG-based scholars on the conceptualization and early drafts of a book covering multi-disciplinary research contributions regarding Micronesia. Publication expected in 2016 or 2017.

3. SERVICE:

A. Professional Service to the University

- 1) Promotion of UOG journals (Pacific Asia Inquiry; Micronesian Educator) at professional events (e.g., Association of Social Anthropology in Oceania, Santa Fe, NM, February, 2015).

Continued to serve as an active member of the Hawaii United Okinawa Association and the Okinawan Genealogical Society of Hawaii (OGSH). Services included:

1. Voluntary research, advising, and educating individuals interested in family genealogy search. Individuals seeking assistance come from Hawaii (all islands), U.S. Mainland and South America (Brazil, Argentina, Peru).
2. Served as chair of OGSH’s display at the annual Okinawan Festival held in August 2015. The theme for the display was “The Golden Age of Trade in Ryukyus: Its Historical Impact.” A pictorial album with anecdotes was also created to augment the poster display. This educational display was well received by community college and graduate students, individuals preparing for travel to Okinawa, military personnel who lived in Okinawa, and others who needed more in-depth information for work related projects.

Society of Emeritus Professors & Retired Scholars
Treasurer's Report from January 1 through December 31, 2015

All financial resources of the Society of Emeritus Professors and Retired Scholars are invested in a single endowment account using the Raymond James Freedom ETF Balanced Strategy. The endowed fund underwrites each of Society's budget categories, i.e., the General Fund, the Scholarship Fund, and the Incubator Fund. Table 1 displays the financial transactions of the endowment fund for the year. Table 2 indicates the Society's fiscal status by budget category.
