Concept Paper for the The University of Guam Faculty Senate Palulap Medallion

The University of Guam Faculty Senate awards the Palulap Medallion to a member of the community of Guam who has made extraordinary contributions to the protection and promotion of the fundamental principles of the academy, including academic freedom and institutional integrity, institutional and individual autonomy, and shared academic governance for the University of Guam<sup>3</sup>.

The Palulap Medallion symbolizes the qualities of vision, courage, diligence, and commitment exemplified by the ancient navigators who guided their vessels and the people in them through the hazards of the sea to land safely on the shores of the islands of the western Pacific Ocean. It is given only to an individual or organization outside of the University that has gone well beyond the requirements or duties of office to defend or promote academic freedom, institutional integrity, institutional and individual autonomy, and shared academic governance through service or actions external to the University. Particular consideration is given to individuals or organizations that have protected these values when they have been in jeopardy or who have persevered in the face of strong opposition to protect or promote these fundamental and defining principles of the University. Consideration may also be given to individuals who by sustained dedication to these principles over an entire career or major portion of one have made an extraordinary contribution to the institutionalization of academic freedom, institutional integrity, institutional and individual autonomy, and shared academic governance at the University of Guam. Nominees may not be university faculty, staff, administrators, or students. Former members of the faculty, staff or administration, or former students may be eligible but only for service or actions taken in roles they performed while not employed or enrolled at the university. Individuals holding or standing for election to public office in the Territory of Guam are not eligible for nomination.

Nominations are solicited annually, but the award is granted only when the case presented with the nomination unequivocally reflects an extraordinary contribution. An award may be granted posthumously. Any number of nominations may be made in any one year, but no more than two awards may be granted in any year. Nominees who are not selected may be re-nominated for consideration in subsequent cycles. There is no limit to the number of times a person can be nominated, but subsequent nominations must be appropriately updated and justified each time they are submitted. The identities of all nominees remain confidential; only the names of those to whom the award is granted will be released. The award is presented by the Senate at a formal event of suitable decorum and solemnity. The identity of the recipient(s) is confidential until the moment that the award is announced by the sitting President of the Faculty Senate.

The award includes a medallion and plaque, each engraved with a figure of a Palulap standing near the prow of a canoe, with the guiding stars in the sky and an island on the horizon. The reverse side of the medallion and the lower left corner of the plaque display Faculty Senate logo. The name of the recipient is engraved on the plaque. The award also includes a citation that refers to the recipient by name and summarizes the extraordinary contributions of the recipient.

The Senate Standing Committee on Institutional Excellence is responsible for developing detailed procedures, in consultation with the rest of the Senate's standing committees, for administering the nomination, selection, and presentation of the award. Deliberate measures shall be taken to ensure that the nomination and award processes remain expressly apolitical and free of any other influence that might compromise the integrity or value of the award. These procedures shall be approved by the Senate and incorporated into the Senate Handbook.
