THE UNIVERSITY OF GUAM SOLICITS APPLICATIONS TO ESTABLISH A LIST OF ELIGIBLES FOR THE FOLLOWING POSITION (TENURE/NON-TENURE TRACK APPOINTMENT, FULL-TIME, SUBJECT TO THE AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS):

#026-26 INSTRUCTOR TO ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR (BIOLOGY)

Location:

University Information:

College of Natural and Applied Sciences/Division of Natural Sciences

The University of Guam is the premier institution of higher education in the Western Pacific. It is a land-grant, a sea-grant, and a space-grant institution, accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges Senior Commission. Located in the village of Mangilao on the island of Guam, the campus overlooks the beautiful Pago Bay and the University’s world-class Marine Laboratory and Water and Environmental Research Institute of the Western Pacific. The University has 3,400 students, 47% of Asian ethnicity and 45% of Pacific Islander ancestry, providing a uniquely diverse campus and multicultural atmosphere. As a regional, comprehensive, open-admissions institution, the University awards degrees at the certificate, baccalaureate, and master’s levels through its two colleges and four professional schools. The University also offers a professional doctorate degree in Instructional and Academic Leadership (its first-ever online doctoral program) through the School of Education. The institution’s mission of Ina (to Enlighten), Diskubre (to Discover), Setbe (to Service) serve as the foundation for the institution’s Tulos Mo’na strategic plan, with its vision to transform lives and advance communities as a land-grant, a sea-grant, and a space-grant university. One of the university’s key strategic initiatives is to be recognized as a research university centered in Island Wisdom. Island Wisdom acknowledges that Pacific ways of knowing and Western models of higher education are central to the institution’s teaching, research, and service endeavors, and that balanced consideration of the ideas that emerge from them is essential to the prosperity and sustainability of island communities. Through its robust research portfolio fueled by extramural funding from competitive grants and contracts, the University delivers public value through dedicated and capable administration, faculty, students, and staff. As a complement to the research carried out at the institution, the University of Guam has an active press dedicated to publishing research and writing about Guam and Micronesia. A variety of publishing opportunities are available to UOG faculty, employees, students, and members of the communities we serve through the University of Guam Press. UOG is a safe and secure campus, where the institution places paramount importance on the physical, intellectual, emotion, and spiritual wellbeing of its students and employees. It fosters open dialogue and collegiality based upon mutual respect for diverse perspectives. The university has enacted processes to ensure the physical safety of the campus (most recent information may be accessed at <https://www.uog.edu/safety-security/>) and a policy that encourages open dialogue and respect for all points of view. Community responsive academic programs, robust research agenda, ample publishing opportunities, and commitment to community make the University of Guam an exciting place to be for many years to come.

General Description:

The University of Guam is looking for an individual who is interested in new challenges and opportunities for professional and personal growth. This position calls for someone who is self-motivated and adaptable, intelligent, possesses a global vision and who is interested in working in a dynamic, multicultural institution.

Unit Description:

The Biology Program in the College of Natural and Applied Sciences invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure track/tenure-track position in the field of Biology. The successful candidate will be able to instruct Human Anatomy and Physiology I & II lecture and laboratories, scientific report writing and scientific arguments as well as upper-division courses in their relevant field of specialization (e.g. pharmacology, molecular biology, etc.). Applicants must have a Master of Science (M.S.) or Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Biology or any Bio-medical related field and will have demonstrated teaching effectiveness.

The Division of Natural Sciences is looking for individuals strongly interested in undergraduate teaching, with flexibility to teach both large enrollment introductory courses and upper-division courses in the biological sciences, as well as develop upper division elective courses in their area of interest. This position requires experience with student-centered syllabi and learning outcomes, experience with and/or interest in research in the tropics, and flexibility in coping with island challenges.

Character of Duties:

This is primarily a teaching position as described above, but the successful applicant will also be expected to conduct research of regional relevance. Participation in a variety of core introductory and more advanced undergraduate courses for the Biology Program is required, and interaction with graduate students in the Biology or Environmental Sciences Master’s programs is encouraged. The faculty member will be expected to teach students of varying backgrounds, conduct research, seek outside funding for building research capacity, student advising, and serve on university committees. The Biology Program anticipates filling its needs primarily in the area of biomedical related biology and secondarily in organismal biology. Prospective candidates will be expected to teach courses in these areas in addition to other coursework in their specialty. Applicants are encouraged to review the catalog (<https://www.uog.edu/course-catalog>) to see what courses are currently offered. In addition, applicant should review the Faculty-Board Union Agreement (<https://www.uog.edu/faculty/faculty-union.php>). Successful candidates will be expected to take up their respective positions by August 17, 2026 or until filled.

Qualifications:

Minimum: 1) M.S. degree in Biology, Biomedical science, Evolution, Zoology, or a closely related appropriate field from a U.S. regionally accredited institution or foreign equivalent for the rank of Instructor (Non-Tenure Track Appointment) OR Ph.D. in Biology, Biomedical science, Evolution, Zoology, or a closely related appropriate field from a U.S. regionally accredited institution or foreign equivalent for the ranks for Assistant/Associate Professor (Tenure-Track Appointment). 2) At least two years experience teaching the subject matter of this position. 3) Demonstrated ability to effectively communicate and collaborate with students, colleagues. 4) Ability and willingness to work with people of diverse cultures, backgrounds. 5) record of research and publications. 6) Must be willing to teach online.

Preferred: 1) Preference will be given to applicants that can be hired under the Assistant/Associate Professor ranks on a Tenure-Track Appointment. 2) Demonstrated excellence in teaching Human Anatomy & Physiology with multiple years instructional experience. 3) Experience in teaching an upper division Pharmacology or Molecular Biology course. 4) Knowledge of or experience in working with Pacific Island populations. 5) Extensive experience in communications and
