Follow Your Heart

Communication, Media, and Fine Arts is home to relevant, dynamic, and creative majors where you can aspire to follow your heart. Majors that provide the ability to express yourself and your surroundings through communication, art, music, and media such as movies, websites, and social media. Don't hold back. Follow your heart in these endeavors at the Undergraduate level and carry these skills into the many jobs, careers, and graduate programs that encourage creativity and communication.

The program promotes the understanding and production of work in the communication arts. You can build the skills to enter nationally and internationally recognized organizations while learning to understand and explore human communication. Business and government entities alike value communication as Communication Studies and Public Relations are great avenues to consider.

You might want to have it all and combine majors or add a minor: Theater and Digital Cinema, Media, and Journalism, Art, and/or Public Relations. Don't hold back. Dreams start with a first step and believing in yourself. Our programs and majors will guide your other steps along the way.

This advisement book will help you get a sense of the opportunities out there for your chosen major. Provide information on specific advising sheets and forms you will need. Finally, we show you who to go to for advice. Having the right advisor is crucial to graduating on time.

Take that first step. Don't hold back. Dreams wait for no one.

What Can I Do with a Communication & Media Degree?

Our graduates have moved on to a variety of ventures. Below are some of the ways they are shining.

Pursuing graduate degrees in Public Administration; completing a Master of Fine Arts (MFA) in Editing and Postproduction in New York.

Comments about the Communication & Media Major

“Graduating with a bachelor’s degree in Communication has helped me in innumerable ways. I’m grateful for all the career opportunities that continue to come from my teachers even after graduation. Most of all, I am grateful for the bonds that I’ve built throughout the program – with my classmates becoming lifelong friends and my professors becoming lifelong mentors.”

Keano Fausto, Alumnus

“To newly declared majors, I would say to be a good group member! The nature of many Communication classes is team centric. I would not have graduated without the help of my friends and cohort. Learn to be a good team player - you need to support each other (even emotionally sometimes lol).”

Shannon Ada, Alumna

“Declaring a major can definitely be daunting, but I would say that declaring one in Communication and Media opens doors to many opportunities that can help you pursue your interests and goals. One thing that I love about this program is that it offers a variety of classes that touch on different aspects of society such as interpersonal and small group relationships, intercultural and digital communication, and more. At first, I was also unsure of which major to pursue but I’m glad I majored in communication as it covered many things I am interested in.”

Lisa Rosario, Graduating senior

Comments about the Fine Arts Program

Art

"You don't need to have a Fine Arts degree to be an artist. Many successful artists have pursued art careers without one, however, having an art degree will surely help you get where you want to be. If you are on the fence about pursuing the arts, I am going to assume you love art, it makes you happy, but you are afraid of financial instability, unavailable work, what family might think, or failure overall. You will face hardship and challenges no matter what career path you choose. You might as well choose what makes you happy. The UOG Fine Arts program can provide you with the skills and knowledge you need to be successful in the arts, which can also be applied to any career path."

Dorathina Herrero, Alumna

"It all comes down to leaving my mark, knowing that I existed, to know that I was here. I created when I was at my happiest and I created when I was at my lowest. I was given advice and I executed my ideas. Because of my amazing mentors in this area of study and their motivation to help me succeed, I had a purpose. The beauty of being a Fine Arts Major is being able to create something so unique, that only our hands will memorize."

Mariah Edquilane, Alumna

Music

"Through the nonstop rehearsals, juries, recitals, travel opportunities, and performances, I am proud to say that the small room of FA127 will forever be the humble home to many musicians that have walked the halls of the music department. What I have learned as an alumnus of UOG Music is that although we come from a small island, the impact of our sound has reached many places around the world. This is a valuable lesson that I bring forth in my music classroom to inspire the younger generation to see that music is an outlet to explore the world. Key advice that I have for any student that is looking to pursue a music degree is to work hard, build that thick skin (it will help in Music juries), and to always reflect on why you wanted to do it in the first place."

Rhojine Javinal, Class of 2020 (Latte Tones President 18-20)

"Being a part of the Music Program at UOG has given me the opportunity to receive quality education and the skill to teach music. As a plus, the program has given me the opportunity to travel the world and learn more of other cultures, communities, and take part in sharing our very own CHamoru culture at an international level. I recommend this program to those who want to teach music, who want to further their musical education and for those who want to enrich their lives with music. As a 2019 graduate with a Fine Arts/Music degree, I am proud to have earned it at the University of Guam."

Julia Rivera, Alumna

"My experience in the UOG music program equipped me with the skills to be an effective teacher in the education system in Guam. With my music degree I was prepared to pursue higher education in graduate studies at the University of Hawaii at Manoa in other related music disciplines such as ethnomusicology. The untapped world of music was made possible through the department's rigorous program as well as the music tours that was both professor and student led. The possibilities are truly endless with a degree in music at the University of Guam."

Andrew Gumataotao, Alumnus

Theater

"The Theater is a place of freedom. Here, you are allowed to be your actual self and people will love you for it; they would encourage you to always be yourself and to love yourself because you are unique and bring something to the table that no one else has to offer.

The people here remind you that you matter and are important. Here, you will develop lifelong relationships with people from all walks of life; you gain new family members instead of just friends. The Theater is a place of growth. You will grow in many ways, not just as an artist. Part of that growth is learning practical skills; skills that help you become a better student and a better person. You will learn to work with others, as a team, to achieve a common goal and you will definitely have fun in the process."

Steven Torres, Alumnus

"Take intro to acting or, better yet, audition for a play. There's no better way to find out if this is the major/minor for you than getting hands on experience of the craft. There's more to theatre than just acting and everyone can find some aspect of theatre that they enjoy most."

Samuel Cabatic, Alumnus

"There's no harm in trying something new. We often feel uneasy about big decisions because of the uncertainty that lies ahead. But take ownership of the uncertainty. Everything is uncertain so go after something that sets your heart on fire."

Hannah Elmore, Alumnus

What Do You Need to Graduate?

Remember this saying:

“Take Good Care Thinking Uniquely”

Take – Total credits 124

Good – General education credit 47

Care – Core credits required for your major (varies)

Thinking – Track required credits (varies)

Uniquely – Upper division credits (minimum of 40 credits)

All graduates need a minimum of 124 credits of which 47 - 49 credits are for your General Education (you know the fun stuff like Basic Math and Critical Thinking). Below, in Chart 1: General Education Guidelines, you will notice three broad areas of Tier 1, Tier 2 and Tier 3. For Tier 1 you take all the classes listed. You have numerous choices in Tiers 2 and 3, with Tier 3 being mainly related to your Major.

Tier 3 includes a requirement for your Capstone or final major class. For the Fine Arts Major this includes either a Major Art Show, a Music Recital, or a final Theater Production. For Communication and Media, the Capstone class is Current Issues in Communication and Society. Charts 2 – 7 are your major and track specific classes. More on that below.

In your second to last semester, fill out Form 1: Application for Undergraduate Degree Form and submit to the Registrar's department with the required payment. They will analyze your transcript and let you know decisively what is needed in your last semester.

It is important to regularly meet with your Faculty Advisor to ensure you have an academic plan that you follow. This will help you graduate in a timely fashion. It is never a good idea to self-advise.

How Do You Become a Major or Minor?

You can ask the Communication and Media Administrative Assistant for Form 2 below, Declaration on Major/Minor Form. Note you will need to find a faculty advisor to sign it. Whoever signs it will become your formal advisor, so make sure you have the right advisor sign off on the form.

This form is also used for changing a major or choosing a minor. Your major's faculty advisor is usually not able to help you with figuring out the minor's schedule. So be ready to speak to that discipline's faculty for advice on the minor.

DECLARATION OF ACADEMIC MAJOR/MINOR

INSTRUCTIONS TO STUDENT:

- (1) Print clearly and complete all information with blue or black ink.
- (2) For catalog year: Continuing students who enter as undeclared majors may choose the catalog in force at the time of their initial admission to the University or the one in force at the time they declare a major.
Returning students (who have missed two consecutive semesters or more) may choose the catalog in force at the time of re-entry to the University or the one in force at the time they declare a major.
- (3) See new academic advisor for signature.
- (4) Return completed form to Admissions & Records Office for processing.

Advisement Materials

Overview of Advisement Sheets and Advisement Checklist

Below are Charts 2 -8. Chart 2 is the Individual Academic Plan. You can use Chart 2 to keep track of potential classes as you go through 3-8, which are specific to your major. For example, if you are a Communication and Media major and planning to pursue the Communication Studies Track, you will follow Chart 2. If you are wanting to do the Public Relations Track, you would focus on Chart 3. You can also explore double tracking or double majoring.

Note the color scheme: Light Orange means all semesters, Blue is Fanuchanan (Fall). Green, Fañomnåkan (Spring), Yellow for Summer classes and Dark Orange for intersession, between Fall and Spring. Also, you will see that at the top of all the charts are the Major's core requirements. These will be standard for a major and will not change between a major's track.

Always discuss your ideas, concerns, or questions with your faculty advisors. We are here and happy to help. And we do not bite.

Quick Faculty Advisement Checklist

- ☐ Do you know your Academic Catalog Year and have access to your transcripts?
- ☐ Do you have a Declaration of Major/Minor Form submitted or ready to be signed?
- ☐ Do you have a copy of your Individual Academic Plan, see Chart 8 below, with classes you have already taken noted down in the appropriate columns.
- ☐ Do you have a sense of when it is you would like to graduate, what year and semester?
- ☐ Have you contacted your faculty advisor and made an appointment?
