DALJIT SINGH

1. I continue to teach several graduate level courses in International Business Law, Public Administration and Public Policy at Northcentral University, Prescott Valley, Arizona. Additionally, I serve as Mentor to approximately 15 Ph.D. candidates' dissertation projects.

II. RESEARCH AND PROFESSIONAL SCHOLARSHIP

LEROY HEITZ

1. I continued to work as a volunteer on a project which involved applying the rain catchment model that I developed for use in Guam and Micronesia. The purpose of the project was to help evaluate guidelines for groundwater extraction savings using rooftop rain water catchment for irrigation of household and commercial sites in south eastern Arizona. This project was carried out in conjunction with the University of Arizona Cochise County, Arizona Cooperative extension service. The project involved using my daily rain catchment model to evaluate the results of stochastic approaches to predicting ground water extraction savings.
2. I was co-investigator with Dr. Khosrowpanah of WERI on a research project funded by The US Geological Survey in which we evaluated the hydroelectric potential of various streams on the island of Kosrae. The technical report for that project was published in 2012 and is listed under Publications.
3. I was co-investigator with Dr. Khosrowpanah of WERI on a research project funded by The US Geological Survey in which we developed a water system model and geographic information system of the Weno Chuuk water delivery system. In August 2012, I made a field trip to Chuuk to gather water system component data and to coordinate with the officials at the Chuuk Public Utility Corporation. I recently completed this project and have submitted a draft technical completion report for this project to WERI for publication.
4. I continued work on the Guam Water Works Authority funded study that is investigating Ground Water under the Direct Influence of Surface water on Guam. This study is commonly known as the Guam GWUDI study. I analyzed continuous water quality data and bacterial data for 15 wells located in Northern Guam. I have submitted a technical completion report for this portion of the project to WERI, University of Guam and continue work on data gathered for the military wells located on Guam.
5. I am co-investigator with Dr. Khosrowpanah of WERI, University of Guam on a proposal that was submitted for funding and funded by the US Geological Survey. This project will develop a computerize water system model and Geographic Information System (GIS) for the Pohnpei Island water distribution system located in Pohnpei State, Federated States of Micronesia.

ROBERT M. SAJNOVSKY

1. Along with my wife, Dr. Cynthia Sajnovsky, continued 18th year of co-hosting, "Airing the Arts", a weekly 30 minute program for KPRG, Guam's Public Radio Station. We interview local artists and discuss current arts events in which they are engaged; and I prepare a weekly calendar of current arts events happening on Guam which is aired several times weekly and is also published on the KPRG website.

2. Continued volunteer work as a Coast Guard Auxiliarist by serving the 14 Coast Guard District (Hawaiian Islands, Guam and Saipan) as the District Staff Officer for Public Education, and the Guam Flotilla as Flotilla Operations Officer and Navigational Systems Officer. Duties include: 1. as District Public Education Officer: to monitor, encourage, and provide materials for and otherwise support the Coast Guard Auxiliary's Public Education Program in Boating Safety in District 14; 2. as Flotilla Operations Officer: organizing boats and crew for Group Guam search and rescue exercises, regatta, safety and training patrols, and preparing calendar of on-water patrols for distribution to interested parties; 3. as Navigational Systems Officer: routinely observing the state of Aids to Navigation around Guam and reporting deteriorating, obscured or missing buoys and other navigation marks to appropriate Coast Guard personnel. Was elected District Commander Prevention, responsible for Auxiliary activities in Hawaii, Guam, Saipan, and American Samoa. In addition, I participated in the following activities for the C.G. Auxiliary:

a. Member/Public Training: Taught Team Co-ordination Training courses to members of the National Park Service on Saipan and Guam. Taught Team Co-ordination Training courses and operational risk management to members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary and members of the Active Duty Coast Guard. Assisted in presenting Boating Safety courses to members of Guam Police Harbor Division personnel.

SUBJECT: Annual Report

Opportunities for notable academic and professional pursuits seem less and less possible as the years go by. Thus, my annual report reflects personal interests, some of which may somewhat relate to professional activities, at least in the area of community service.

The year 2012 is noteworthy for our opportunities to travel. The first trip saw us travel literally around the world as we visited Barcelona, Spain; Alexandria and Safaga, Egypt; Petra, Jordan; Dubai; Goa and Cochin, India; Penang and Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia; Singapore; Sarawak, Malaysia; and finally Guangzhou, China. As a Peace Corps Volunteer, I had lived and worked in Sarawak—an experience that ultimately led me to Guam. This trip was an opportunity to vastly expand my knowledge of the world and of several different cultures.

Our second trip of the year was a three-week journey to South Africa. This trip turned out to be far more educational than we thought it would be as our tour guide, experienced and quite verbose, happily filled the hours of our long coach rides with the history and culture of the country. We toured cities, museums, townships and wild animal parks. Also included in the trip were rides through Swaziland as well as a sojourn into Zambia, Zimbabwe and Botswana. I came away from South Africa with renewed respect for former President Nelson Mandela, a true hero to the people of that country.

I continue to be involved in Stephen Ministry through my local church. This is a ministry of helping those who are suffering a loss, whether a death, a job or a lifestyle. It is fulfilling and necessary. I spent a week during the year training to be a leader of this ministry, so that I can share the administrative work.

Finally, we continue to be involved in the Academy for Lifelong Learning at the nearby community college. These are courses for senior citizens, taught for free by someone of knowledge about topics ranging from health to history. These courses allow me to maintain some association with academia, however tentative, as many of the instructors are also college faculty. Most of the classes encourage active discussion, thus allowing for a healthy exchange and examination of ideas.

Dear Mary,

I have been into personal issues after my husband's demise in Feb. 2012, Other than my attempt to start a scholarship to honor Alfredo C. Cantoria out of friends' donations, I had not done much scholarship or academic endeavor for the year. This is also a late report about my research paper for the 2013 conference in Cairns Australia sponsored by SBPA this March.

Best regards,
Melba Cantoria

Dear Bob, Find below my 2012 Emeritus report.

Larry F. Kasperbauer, Ph.D

Hello Bob,

This has been a better year than last. Many of the health issues have been resolved or at least improved to the point that I am able to do volunteer work again. Among the agencies my husband and I work with are the Ronald McDonald House, where families with very ill children can stay while their children are being treated at one of the three hospitals here, and the Meals on Wheels program that provides hot meals to those who are unable to get out and about. Many agencies need volunteers, so I expect we will add our hands to help in other ways this year.

My best to you and Cynthia and other former colleagues. May this year be happy, healthy and productive for all.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Owings-Jones

The year 2012 was not very good to Wang. He attended most of his mind and concentration to his daughter, Marianne, who had the vicious pancreas cancel and had two critical operations in hospital, one in Greensboro, North Carolina and the other in Louisville, Kentucky. Thanks to Lord, her cancel cells are not spread and she is stable at this time.

Wang's desk top was crushed sometimes in the first half of the year and it had never got back. His saved files in the PC were all gone. With the death of the PC, one of his disks was destroyed and so all saved files there were not able to be retrieved. And not long ago, his Yahoo mail address was hacked; again, the saved emails and contacts in all boxes were disappeared.

About two / three weeks ago, Wang responded to the person, who sent UOG news to the world, requesting him for your email address so that Wang could send you the imminent due of annual report. So far, he has not received any response, yet.

Therefore, please excuse for not involving many different activities during the year, and particularly for being late in submitting the annual report.

More, please ask Computer Center, if possible, please do Wang a great favor to help him with remote operation install certain basic operation software in his PC's, such as MS word, Window, etc. He really has trouble with his home PC. Thanks. Chih Wang
